Supporting one another.*

*Building Conversations
Stories & Tips
Collective Action
Civic Engagement*

April 12, 7-9pm EST

After a climate conversation, attendees are ready to collaborate! Together, we can summon our collective energy to move into uncertainty, to embrace and encourage change and be there to support each other through it. In so many ways we need courage and in so many ways we are showing that we have it!

The fourth and final webcast in the series explores how to tailor a conversation and focuses a little more deeply on the last part of the KTCC agenda, ways of working together, actions and solutions and supporting one another.

- How to approach and build engaging conversations for different circles.
- Taking action and working together: Hear stories and tips about actions, working collaboratively and methods of engagement, including civic engagement.

FEDERAL CLIMATE PLAN – AND SURVEY

In December the federal government released their climate plan: Healthy Environment, Healthy Economy. There's an opportunity to provide feedback by filling out a survey online.

The climate plan link and survey link can be found on this page:

<https://www.canada.ca/en/services/environment/weather/climatechange/climate-plan/climate-plan-overview.html>

Observations of climate plan:

While there are many positive programs included, some with budget figures, there are no numbers to indicate that the scale and pace of these programs will reach the target (spoiler alert: they will not). They ask about how satisfied you are with the target (note that 32-40% reduction is not by any means sufficient, it must be a min of 50% according to IPCC and 60% reduction for the fair share target the Climate Action Network has set). Please note that there are indications in the plan that they want to develop SMRs (small modular nuclear reactors) as part of the plan, also biofuels, carbon capture and hydrogen.

On SMRs:

Here's a fact sheet produced by the Institute for Energy and Environmental Research and Physicians for Social Responsibility and one from Ontario Clean Air Alliance.

The main commentary we want to make is that:

1. The plan doesn't really tell us about the numbers - how we are going to achieve GHG reductions, just some of the program ideas are outlined and some of the costs but not what that spending will achieve.
2. It asks about the target - so is an opportunity to stress that the targets are insufficient.
3. It asks for ideas, We will stress the need for funding community groups and initiatives as well as retraining for jobs in the new green economy.

Please add more about your ideas of what gov't must do to help us reach the target we need to get to.

CLIMATE PLAN CRITIQUES:

- Seniors for Climate Action Now (SCAN) climate plan critique "THE GOOD THE BAD AND THE UGLY"
- Indigenous Climate Action Climate Plan Critique

It is worth participating in the survey. Estimate: 15 min to do the survey. Please read or scan through the climate plan before you do so, so that's another 20 minutes or so minimum. It's an opportunity to put the justice lens, the green lens and the urgency lens on it. Please also let your MP know of your concerns. See action above re Bill C-12. See also the call from the Canadian Centre for Policy Alternatives for a Just Transition Act.

ARTICLE: GLOBAL CO2 LEVELS HIT ‘VERY SCARY’ 3.6 MILLION-YEAR HIGH

From The Energy Mix: Atmospheric carbon dioxide levels are higher than they’ve been in the last 3.6 million years, and methane concentrations surged in 2020, all despite restrictions brought on by the COVID-19 pandemic, according to preliminary data released this week by the U.S. National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA). After exceeding 420 parts per million for the first time in recent measurements, carbon dioxide concentrations measured at the Mauna Loa Observatory in Hawai’i are now a full 50% above pre-industrial levels.
